

Group Activity

- ❖ Provide 4 large surfaces for students to write on, ex. 4 large poster boards, and markers.
- ❖ Separate the class into their color groups.
- ❖ Give the groups 5 minutes to complete the activity.
 - The only instruction the groups should receive is to “go on a road trip together.”
 - They should use markers and poster board to explain their results.
- ❖ Allow each group to present their results.
 - Discuss how each of the results coincides with the descriptions of each color.
 - How do the color groups exemplify their color characteristics in their road trip plans?
 - Characteristics you may see when color groups present:
 - Oranges- their road trip might be more spontaneous, plans may be scattered, more excitement, less details
 - Golds- their road trip may have detailed/structured/prepared plans, budgets, packing lists, destination lists, etc.
 - Greens- their road trip plans might be bigger picture/conceptual ideas without finite details
 - Blues- their road trip might be centered around others, who they will include or invite and how they will spend time together
