MISSION OF THE COLLEGE OF NATURAL SCIENCES

To provide an excellent, research-oriented education in science, mathematics and computing that fosters the success of its students; to discover important new knowledge through research; and to create an intellectually and scientifically enriched environment that advances a vibrant Texas and beyond.

The University of Texas at Austin
College of Natural Sciences

CONGRATULATIONS FROM THE DEAN

Dear College of Natural Sciences Graduates,

You have now made a momentous journey, from arriving several years ago on our UT campus, excited and maybe also a little apprehensive about all that the university experience offers, to this important point, surrounded by friends and family, celebrating your achievement. The culmination of all of your hard work, bold exploration and collaborative problem-solving has finally arrived.

As you cross the graduation stage, you enter a world that needs all that you will bring to it. In our college, you honed skills in analysis and reasoning, developed grit and courage on the path to making discoveries and uncovered insights about everything around us, from technologies to the natural world.

Texas Scientists know how to probe for answers, how to rise with resilience from setbacks, how to use creativity to surmount obstacles and how to work with others on meaningful projects that, as it turns out, really do change the world. We are proud of our students and the impact they go on to make after their time here with us.

On behalf of the faculty and staff, congratulations on becoming a graduate of the College of Natural Sciences at The University of Texas at Austin. We look forward to staying connected with you as you enter a new phase of your life, as one of our cherished alumni.

Andreas Matouschek

COMMENCEMENT SPEAKER

AMIR HUSAIN

B.S. Computer Science, Class of 1998

College of Natural Sciences' 2025 commencement speaker is Amir Husain, a serial entrepreneur, veteran AI technologist and author based in Austin, Texas. He has received widespread acclaim for his pioneering work, including Austin's Top Entrepreneur award and inclusion in Austin's 40 Under 40. His ventures have been lauded with CNBC's fastest-growing company awards and numerous other international recognitions.

Under Amir's leadership, SparkCognition achieved a unicorn valuation, marking a significant milestone in its journey. As the founder and executive board member of this award-winning AI company, Amir led the firm from its inception until the end of 2023. Besides his contributions to SparkCognition, he also holds board positions at SpecFive, a mesh networking company, and Navigate, a data platform. Amir founded the defense technology company SGS, chaired by former Deputy Secretary of Defense Robert Work, and served as founder, CEO and board director of SkyGrid, a joint venture with Boeing.

An avid inventor, Amir has been awarded over 30 patents in AI and distributed systems. He serves on UT Austin's Computer Science Advisory Council, NATO's Innovation Advisory Board and the Board of Global Venture Bridge, fostering international entrepreneurial collaboration. His work has been featured in world-leading publications such as the BBC, Fortune, Forbes and Proceedings from the U.S. Naval Institute. He is the author of the best-selling book "The Sentient Machine," a co-author of "Hyperwar: Conflict and Competition in the AI Century," and has recently published two new books, "Generative Art" and "Generative AI for Leaders."

STUDENT SPEAKERS

LARS NICO DEUTZ

(12:00 PM)

Combining a love for molecular biosciences with a commitment to service, Lars Deutz will graduate with a B.S. in neuroscience from the Dean's Scholars Honors Program. He has conducted research in Dr. Daniel Dickinson's lab in the Department of Molecular Biosciences, where he studied proteins that drive cell asymmetry during early embryonic development. His independent project utilized single-molecule microscopy to study protein interactions, culminating in a first-author publication in Biophysical Journal and earning him the George H. Mitchell Award. His research experiences, including two summers at the Cleveland Clinic studying liver disease, affirmed his calling to bridge basic science and clinical practice. At UT, he served as president of Synapse, co-founding a student research conference and organizing faculty-led discussions to expand undergraduate research involvement. He also led the Austin chapter of Miracle Messages, helping reconnect unhoused individuals with long-lost family members. In the fall, Lars will begin an M.D./Ph.D. program at Johns Hopkins University.

SAMI FAROOQUI

(4:00 PM)

Graduating with a B.S. in public health, Sami Farooqui's dedication to serving historically marginalized communities drives both his clinical and research work. He serves as lead research coordinator at the Cena Research Institute, where he focuses on equitable clinical trial design and increasing representation of underrepresented populations in medical research. His work has resulted in multiple publications and presentations at the American Heart Association Scientific Sessions and the NASA Human Research Program Investigators' Workshop. Sami is an advocate for historically marginalized communities and has volunteered with sexual and gender minorities and unhoused populations through Kind Clinic, Hearts4Homeless and Community First! Village. Outside of academics and research, he finds balance through creative and physical pursuits, including photography, basketball, weight training, boxing and running. In the fall, he will begin medical school at Baylor College of Medicine.

CNS DISTINCTIONS

Students who have distinguished records of service, excellence, leadership, research achievement, community engagement and entrepreneurialism are nominated by faculty, staff and peers for College of Natural Sciences Distinctions. A review committee selects students from among those nominated who made substantial impact through their contributions during their time at The University of Texas at Austin.
